School Board Issues Public Notice

Public notice has been given by the Board of Trustees of the Coleman School District No. 1216 that the Board are preparing to borrow the sum of $350,000 for the purpose of constructing and furnishing a Junior-Senior High School to serve the district. The money should be borrowed on the security of the School district by the issue of debentures repayable to the bearer in 20 equal installments with a rate of not more than six per cent per year.

The Board are therefore giving notice that unless a poll of the proprietary electors of the said school district for and against the said debenture loan is demanded as provided by the School Act, the School Board will then apply to the Board of Public Utility Commissioners for authority to borrow the sum of $350,000.

The notice also points out that a poll may be demanded in a school division by a demand signed by five percent of the proprietary electors of each of at least twenty percent of the districts in the division.

Every demand for a poll must be delivered to the secretary Nora Gouding or in her absence to the chairman of the Board of Trustees Steve Mraz within fifteen days after the date of posting or of the last publication in a newspaper of this notice. A certified copy of the demand must be forwarded forthwith to the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of Alberta at Edmonton.

It has been pointed out that the term "Proprietary Elector" means an elector who is liable to assessment and taxation for school purposes in respect of any property situated in the School District of Coleman No. 1216.

It has also been stressed that the demand for a poll shall be in writing and shall be signed and by five percent of the proprietary electors of the district.

The new school to cost some $440,000.00 is to be a ten classroom building with auditorium and auxiliary rooms. Plans for the building are being drawn up by Archie Lurie and Neufeld of Lethbridge.

The School Board are now preparing to call for tenders for construction of the building with tenders scheduled to be opened on January 28th, 1963.

Jehovah's Witnesses Three-Day Assembly At Taber

Local and district residents of Coleman were in Taber recently to attend the three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, held at the Taber Community Centre.

Sponsored by the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, the week-end meetings consisted of a Bible short-course for the purpose of improving Bible study techniques in spreading the word of life in Southern Alberta areas.

Such refresher courses are held at regular intervals during the year in over 180 different lands where Jehovah's Witnesses have congregations.

Highlighting Saturday's sessions, was a special baptism and ordination service for two new ministers, who will serve in the Southern Alberta district.

Climaxing the week-end's activities, C. E. Statton, guest speaker from the Society's branch office in Toronto, discussed the subject—

"The Bible's Answer to Our Problem of Survival".

Speaking to a capacity audience of 521, Mr. Statton said "The man-made threat to survival is common to us all, but there is a threat to survival that the average man is not aware of, the climatic struggle between good and evil, called in the Bible God's Battle of Armageddon. But," he commented, "how we can survive is all outlined in the pages of the Bible."

In his closing remarks Mr. Statton urged that in the face of the present world situation, all Christian Ministers should take their responsibilities seriously.

The third on-coming motorist, who was skidding into the rear end of a truck with approximately $800.00 damage done being. Fortunately, no one was hurt. OF MANY THINGS (By Ambrose Hills)

For Sixty-Three

I was looking for Christmas stickers. On the table in our recreation room I found assorted scraps of paper, leaves from school note books, rough sketches and crayon artwork, and then the treasure. Neatly printed was a list of Resolutions for 1963.

1)-I will not fight with Martha in 1963 even if she gets her leetards mixed with mine. 2)-I will study my maths harder. (Felt like adding spelling to that one, but I didn't). 3)-I will tidy my half of our room every day. 4)-I will love everybody. (Signed) Franny.

Number one is going to be tough. I give it a week. Number three, of course, is a dream. I give it a day... possibly. Not that I care. That last one, number four, makes all the rest rather unimportant.

Love is about the most important thing in the world, I suppose. Books have been written about it. Some writers claim that if you could love everybody, you would never have an ulcer or a headache. Another asserts that virtually every creative act springs from love, whether it be a poem or a well-plowed field, or a beautifully-designed bridge. And they aren't talking only or even chiefly about romantic love that makes you all trilly inside;—they mean love in that larger sense of understanding and compassion between men.

Most of us go along with anything good that is said of love. Most of us wish there were more of it.

Then should we pass a law? I suppose we could—we have laws these days about everything else under the sun. Trouble is, love is a voluntary emotion or state of mind. It cannot be legislated. You can't steal it from those who have it and give it to those who haven't (if you could, believe me, some political party would have it in the platform!)

How does one achieve this wonderful state of mind? Don't ask me. I think Franny might be on the right track, though. Include everybody. If you can bring yourself to love some of those you've been feuding with, you will find it mighty easy to love that very good neighbor... and yourself!

TOURING SOUTHERN ALBERTA

The fifth and final in a series of articles on tour of Southern and Central Alberta by six newspaper writers who were guests of the Alberta Tourists Association, and written on behalf of members of the Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association.

(By H. George Meyer, Associate Editor, THE CAMROSE CANADIAN).

Fort Macleod is one of the oldest settled communities in the Province of Alberta, having been established as a Royal North West Mounted Police Fort in October of 1874. Eighty-five years later, on July 4th, 1959, members of the Fort Macleod Historical Society officially opened a stylized replica of the original fort, and this has been the community's chief tourist attraction ever since. The newly built fort is made of peeled, squared logs. It is 225 feet long and 175 feet in width, with a stockade or lookout tower at each corner, complete with gun slots which were an all-important necessity in the days of the R.N.W.M.P. The stockade is twelve feet high, and the lookout towers or bastions are fifteen feet high. To show the type of construction used in the old fort, wooden pegs are used instead of nails, in the main gate and the four bastions.

Inside the fort is a museum with such interesting pieces as wagons used by early settlers, fire wagons, a horse-drawn ambulance and a six-wheeled wagon used by the early whiskey traders.

While the replica of the old fort at Fort Macleod was erected in the short space of two months, the attraction which brings hundreds of tourists to Frank in the Grouse-nest Pass came about in no less than 100 seconds! In the early hours of April 29th, 1903, seventy million tons of limberlock from Turtle Mountain fell to the floor of the valley, spreading over 3,200 acres to a depth of up to 100 feet and climbing 500 feet up the slope of mountains on the opposite side of the valley. More than sixty men, women and children, residents of the northeastern outskirts of the town of Frank, perished in the slide. Today, No. 3 Highway and the C.P.R. rail line pass over the slide, and the rock has proven an inexhaustible supply for railway maintenance work.

"Wonderful Waterton" is the name given Waterton Lakes National Park, the playground for many South Albertans. This beautiful mountain resort offers facilities for all forms of recreation, including a beautiful, large swimming pool which was completed only three years ago. Hiking along mountain paths is one of the favorite pastimes for visitors to Waterton. Sightings include peaceful Cameron Lake, high above the town-site and accessible over a paved road, and Bertha Lake, famed for its fish. Red Rock Canyon is suitably named, as the rocks in the area are all red in color. From Red Rock a mile hike through the woods takes one to beautiful Blackiston Falls, where climbers can descend into a valley and stand right next to the tumbling waters of Blackiston Creek.

Waterton has adequate camping facilities as well as motels and hotels, among the latter the splendid Prince of Wales Hotel situated on a high table overlooking Waterton Lakes.

Leaving Waterton, the touring newspapermen drove on to Cardston, where they saw the temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, built between 1913 and 1921 at a cost of about $1,000,000. The temple measures 118 feet square and reaches a height of 110 feet. It was constructed of huge squares of white granite from Nelson, B.C., which weigh about 3,800 tons. Also used in its construction were more than 50,000 bags of cement, 14,000 cubic yards of gravel and 200 tons of steel. It is considered one of the most beautiful buildings in Alberta.

Arriving at Lethbridge Saturday afternoon, September 14th, our week of travelling came to an end following a tour of the city. One of the highlights of this city, which refers to itself as the irrigation capital of Canada is the park-Gall Gardens—located in the heart of the downtown area and covering four city blocks. If one is intent on spending a quiet afternoon, he could choose no quieter, lovelier surroundings than Gall Gardens. The tourist who wishes to be more active can find recreation areas such as Henderson Lake, two golf courses, or Park Lake Provincial Park, a few miles north of the city.

All in all, this week-long tour was most rewarding, and reaffirmed my belief that in the words of the Alberta Government Tourist Bureau, Albertans should "know Alberta better". While we were on a tight schedule, and found ourselves arriving at destinations as much as an hour late, I am convinced that Alberta offers its people vacation and recreation facilities which cannot be equalled anywhere on the continent, and that all or any of them can be visited handsily in the usual two-week vacation period—without the pleasure-seekers having to endure long, tiring days of driving.

LETTER TO EDITOR

December 24, 1962,
 Christmas Eve.

Dear Tom and Wife:

I received your Christmas calendar this morning and thank you for remembering us. We reciprocate your good wishes, and look back on many pleasant memories of the years we spent in Coleman. Of course there were the usual ups and downs which we all experience at some time or other in our lives, but on the whole we enjoyed the association of many friends there.

One looks back on 58 years spent in the weekly newspaper business, which I had no idea I would venture into when I left England in March of 1904, and thought it is a life in which you have to be constantly striving to maintain a fair volume of business. I enjoyed it fully as much as if I had had engaged in any other line of business, especially when there was something to stir up some controversy, such as Harvey Murphy and his gang.

I often think that the people of the Pass towns have kept up their chins despite the falling off of the coal industry, and that you have kept The Journal alive under trying conditions.

Many changes have taken place since we left there, and old friends have either departed for other places or have died. Such is the natural course of events. I recall visits with you out to Spring Point, and trips at weekends to the North Fork for fishing, pleasant memories indeed. I have made an occasional drive out there, and thought of Matt Brown and Mrs. Brown and the Fishers. I haven't heard how Mr. and Mrs. Brown are for some time, I hope they are well in spite of advancing years; for Matt was always so lively and had a droll sense of humor.

We plan an spending Christmas with the Haysoms in Lethbridge, and enjoy the company of younger people, enjoying the holiday spirit. We presume you will be spending it with other members of your family or relatives.

Even if we don't see you, we often think of you and the years we worked together in Coleman, especially when we would turn the crank on the old Diamond press, the weekly workout for exercise as Ernie Gare called it. We hope you will continue in good health, and that you will experience the joys of the holiday season.

With our kindest regards, we extend to you and your wife our sincere good wishes.

Yours sincerely,

H. T. Halliwell.

Editor's note:

Mr. Halliwell will be well remembered by old timers in Coleman as being a former editor and publisher of The Journal.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Mr. Holstead:

Just a line or two to say hello and I hope you and yours are well. It will be twenty years in '63 since we left Coleman, but it is still a pleasure to receive "The Journal".

The children are all married and there are four grandchildren.

Last July, I smashed my car in an accident and was in hospital for some time and although I have recovered very well, I am leaving shortly to spend Christmas and a few months with Doris and her husband in Los Angeles, California.

Please remember me to any old friends you happen to meet.

Wishing you a Very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

I remain as ever,

Your friend,
 Virginia E. Petrunick,
 (Mrs. J. K.),
 St. Davids, Ontario.

Introduction of Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine Soon

Large scale introduction into Alberta of Sabin oral polio vaccine will start shortly after the new year. The Alberta Department of Health program calls for the administering of two doses of the liquid antigen with at least a six week interval to those Albertans who previously have received a full series of Salk vaccine injections.

Concurrent with the administering of oral vaccine will be a campaign to urge all residents to accept Salk vaccine, and implementation of an individual record system for each person receiving Sabin vaccine.

The immunization program will be carried out entirely by Municipal Health Units and City Health Departments during the winter months when other viruses are less prevalent, and the chances of spreading polio viruses by natural means are reduced. Alberta Department of Health officials have ordered 1,170,000 doses of the vaccine for the program.

The first round of feedings will commence January 21 and is expected to last two weeks. Second application of the vaccine will commence March 18, 1963.

Health units are expected to recruit volunteer workers for the campaign to assist in recording and other duties. The vaccine itself will be given on a small cube of sugar.

Excluded from receiving the vaccine are those who have not received Salk injections, persons suffering from acute febrile illness, debilitating diseases and persons who have received another live virus vaccination such as smallpox, or yellow fever within 21 days prior to polio immunization. Albertans who are eligible for oral vaccine will be excluded from smallpox vaccinations for 21 days before and after administering.

Arrangements have been made to ensure workers may receive the vaccine after regular working hours.

Angus Bull Sale At Lethbridge, March 31 and April 1

Moody's Angus Sales Service, the sponsors of the All Canadian Show and Sale, announces the Second Annual All Canadian Show and Sale will be held on March 31 and April 1, 1963, at the Lethbridge Exposition Grounds, Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada. Consignments to this sale will be open only to breeders of the four Western Provinces.

All indications are that this year's sale will not only be bigger but also better than last year. Last year 82 lots were sold for an average of $528.00, with a total of $43,310.00.

One of the highlights of last year's "All Canadian" was the "Consensus of Opinion" judging. This method of judging, whereby every one present has a voice in the placing of the cattle, was very popular with the consignors, as well as the buyers, and proved to be educational for everyone.

The Ed and Babe Trophy is awarded to the holder of what is judged to be the largest trophy head of Alberta game killed during last year. Bear and cougar are considered in this award. Penns Taxidermy of Calgary has offered to mount the winning head in this event free of charge.

Sportsmen are advised that if the big game heads are not delivered to the club on or before January 5th, the heads may be left at the following pickup stations: Winman's garage in Lundbreck, Crown West Pass Motors in Blairmore, Jerry's Sport Shop in Bellevue, the CO-OP Hardware in Cowley, McNab and Cleland in Pincher Creek, Kozy Service Station in Fort Macleod, Pete's Wheel Alignment at 518-5th St. South in Lethbridge, Lawrence Halmrast and at A. C. Bair's in Milk River. Hunters are advised not to leave the heads at any of the pickup stations after noon on January 5th as arrangements have been made for their pickup at that time. All those living within a 25-mile radius of these stations must leave the heads at these stations or deliver them to the Club before January 5th, otherwise they will not be judged except those which are in the process of being mounted or are mounted. Partly mounted and mounted heads outside the 25-mile radius must be at the school auditorium not later than 11:00 a.m. on January 12th in order to give judges a chance to score the entries. All the entries must be accompanied with the big game tag, the owner's name and address, the time and place the animal was killed must also be noted.

The club has also announced that the prizes for large fish caught will also be presented during the days' events. Those persons who are holding trophies from last year are requested to see that they are returned to the club on or before January 12th so that they may be presented to the new winners.

This year the club have moved the judging day event from the Lundbreck Community Hall to the Livingstone School Auditorium to make it more convenient for all concerned. Everyone planning on attending the annual judging day event are asked to use discretion in the auditorium as the building is new and floors are in excellent condition and persons attending the affair are asked to wear proper footwear in order that floors are not damaged. All attending are urged to also adhere to the smoking regulations in the hall.

The Club has arranged for a program of entertainment for the days' events and a small charge of 25c is being levied to cover the cost of the lunch that is to be served at the end of the affair. The program will get underway at 1:30 p.m. sharp. Persons wishing further information on the judging day should phone or write to President Stan Weber at Cowley or Secretary Steve Kubasek at Sec Creek.

Lights Improve Homes

Home buyers are recognizing more and more the value of good lighting inside and outside a house.

They want to "decorate" with lights, to use fixtures, and floodlights, and dimmers to display their homes to the best advantage, to create a mood rather than a monotony in and around their homes. Through the intensive nationwide Medallion Home program the building industry is placing added emphasis on lighting, along with other qualities of electrical excellence.

In line with this program home buyers now have the widest choice ever in lighting possibilities.

Fixtures which concentrate light actually can be used as effective room dividers. Fluorescent lamps under frosted glass tops can be trained on walls from book cases or shelves.

Floodlights in swivel reflectors can be aimed at draperies covering window walls and, by controlling these with dimmer variations in the appearance and feeling of a room can be obtained.

An almost infinite variety of lighting effects can be achieved from the dimmer control, from off-whites to blazing sunset colors.

Pull-down fixtures provide just the right illumination over desks, phone stands or hobby benches.

The choice of fixtures of kitchen illumination is almost unlimited, including lights for areas under cupboards and over sinks.

Home-owner has many jobs in autumn

Autumn has arrived with its seasonal rains, heralding colder weather and possible snow for the Evergreen Playground.

The threat of this weather is also the signal for the home owner to do some checking around the house and yard to make sure that all is ship-shape.

Here is a check list:

Replace the filters in your furnace if they are dirty. Check the motor on the blower and replace the V-belt if it is worn. If the flame of the oil or gas burner is yellow and smoky the serviceman should be called in to make a better fuel-air mix adjustment.

Clean soot out of the smoke-pipe. If you burn coal, clean the soot from the inside of the fire pit with a stiff brush.

On the next windy day make a close inspection of the roof to see if any shingles are flapping. Replace any that are broken and use roofing cement to fix the loose ones.

Check the flashing and seal the edges with roof coating. Cover any holes with asphalt paint, a patch of canvas or glass fibre and another coat of asphalt.

Salt Sea Hangover

It has only recently been discovered that Powell Lake, near Powell River, B. C., has its lowest layers filled with old sea water although its upper 600 feet are fresh and contain the usual assortment of fresh-water plankton and fishes.

About 10,000 years ago the land around Georgia Strait, reacting to the weight of a retreating ice sheet was submerged. Sea water entering the Powell Lake valley at that time was much less salty than at present because it was diluted with vast amounts of melt waters from the receding glaciers.

Thus the water in Powell Lake bottom today contains about 17 parts per thousand of salt, whereas Georgia Strait's water has about 30 parts per thousand.

Portrait of one of Canada's U.S. owners

John C. Doyle, a hefty ex coal salesman from New York, now controls North America's richest iron ore deposits in Labrador. "Portrait of one of Canada's American Owners," in current magazine, Terence Robertson says it has taken Doyle only ten years to become master of an incredibly rich piece of Canada.

"He can be accused of only a single demonstrable sin," Robertson says, "that of doing, in 1962, what no Canadian could or would do; invest in the potential wealth of Labrador's then unsurveyed resources."

Doyle controls mineral and timber rights covering 24,000 square miles of Newfoundland and Labrador. He began in 1952 with a down payment of $2,500.

Now, after a series of complicated deals with Premier Joey Smallwood and a series of even more complicated court cases with rival businessmen, "three fabulously rich ore bodies are opening up in Doyle's private kingdom in return for promises by American steel companies to pay Doyle's holding company well over a billion dollars in royalties in the next fifty years."

IN ORDER TO PUBLISH reports of meetings of various organizations, it would help if a press correspondent was appointed by each one to send in the news. It is impossible for a reporter to attend all the meetings, therefore co-operation would be appreciated, and at the same time publicity would be assured for the meetings.

In 1961 the average number of cases of tuberculosis per 100,000 population was 66.

Christmas Theme For Wedding

Bouquets of cedar boughs, holly and poinsettias in Oak Bay United Church, Victoria, B.C., set the Christmas theme for the Saturday night, December 15, 1962 wedding of Verne Ann Brown and OSLM Raymond Lewis, RCN. Holly and white ribbons marked the guests' pews.

The dark-haired bride wore a floor-length gown of heavy white brocade made by herself and her mother. Classic gown was styled on the princess lines with scoop neckline, lily-point sleeves and the skirt slightly on train. Double silk illusion fingertip veil was held with a white brocade flower. She carried a white Bible topped with red carnations and trailing white ribbons. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

DURING CEREMONY
Rev. A. Calder officiated at the candlelight ceremony. The processional "Praise My Soul The King of Heaven" was played by organist, R. Kroeger. Soloist, Stanley Martin sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony and "Because" while the register was being signed.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Brown, 2131 Albany Street and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Lewis of Toronto, Ont.
